

Job Advert

Role: Spot FX Dealer

Department: Group Trading and Liquidity Management, Dublin - Ireland

Reporting to: Senior Manager, Group Trading

Company Information:

Anglo Irish Bank delivered its 22nd consecutive year of uninterrupted earnings growth with underlying profits increasing by 44% to €1,221 million in 2007. The results speak for themselves and give a clear reflection of the Banks' disciplined and focused business model. The steady growth has led to the continued development of our franchises in Ireland, UK, Continental Europe and North America which has opened up increased opportunities for those who enjoy working in an entrepreneurial environment with a high degree of autonomy.

Purpose of the Role:

The spot foreign exchange desk is responsible for all spot FX pricing to our corporate base and interbank franchise. We are also responsible for managing all the FX risk for the group.

This specific role would be to manage FX exposure, perhaps having responsibility for a currency pair or pairs and add value to our revenue stream through short term proprietary trading. He/she would also be required to improve/develop our relationships with London based investment banks.

Key Tasks & Responsibilities:

You will be responsible for:

- Delivery of individual profit target
- Liaising with investment banks to ensure we remain at the close to the good information flows.
- Generating, in conjunction with the Head of the Spot desk, strategic initiatives to develop the business
- Maintaining relationships with other parts of GTLM and the wider Anglo Group to ensure adequate profile of the unit

Skills & Experience Required:

- 5 years experience in a trading environment with a proven track record
- Technical analysis and a knowledge of FX derivatives would be an advantage
- Excellent knowledge of economics and foreign exchange markets
- Strong numerical skills and an ability to solve problems
- Communication skills are essential as part of the role
- Management and Coaching skills would be an advantage
- Management experience is an advantage.
- Ability to work as part of a team
- 3rd Level Qualification in a relevant Business, Financial, Mathematics or Economics field
